“Invisible Ballots shakes the foundation of any thinking American who is committed to the perpetuation of the 200-year-old experiment we call Democracy.”

Warren Slocum, Registrar of Voters
San Mateo County, CA

This is an in-depth expose on the current rise of the all-electronic computerized voting system. Underneath the radar of public scrutiny, dubious election officials and zealous voting machine manufacturers are putting into service tens of thousands of touch screen voting machines that cannot be relied upon for accuracy or reliability in real elections. Voting is swiftly coming under the control of private corporations using secret software with little or no state or federal oversight. The history of these companies and the people who own them are rife with corruption and insider alliances. Mysterious unpredictable election upsets are increasing, and verified recounts are impossible.
