

Killer Drones: in Pakistan, Afghanistan, Gaza and the US

Col. (Ret.) Ann Wright

Former State Dept. diplomat Ann Wright is returning to Maui to speak on the use of Killer Drones by the US military. The free presentation is open to UHMC students and the public.

Well-known and outspoken Ann Wright, a citizen activist with extensive experience standing up for peace, human rights and the rights of war resisters and other veterans and government whistle-blowers, will give a slide-talk on US drone strikes: their increasing use, the dire effects on civilian populations, and implications for US domestic and foreign policy.

In October, November, and December, 2012, Wright made separate trips to Pakistan, Gaza and Afghanistan. She will talk about her experiences concerning the use of drones in all three countries. She will also talk about being a witness in a court hearing in Istanbul on the indictment of 4 senior Israeli officials for the murder of 9 activists and the wounding of 50 more on the ship Mavi Marmara in the 2010 Gaza Freedom Flotilla. She is also the co-author of the book "Dissent: Voices of Conscience."
